

Free and open communication is the cornerstone of democracy. The FCC's mandate should be to protect and support the good of all the people through honest and open discourse, rather than provide a tool for the propaganda of the Multinational Corporations, or the Republican Party. I absolutely oppose further media consolidation.

I strongly encourage you to open any and all proposed changes to FCC policy to public debate, and insist that the proposed changes be made public BEFORE a vote is taken.

If any changes are to be made to the policies, it should be to invoke antitrust laws. The media giants should be dismantled thereby enabling diversity in information, entertainment, and viewpoints.
